COUNTY TAX RATES SET FOR COMING YEAR

The local Boy Scout movement has been revived and the matter placed before the Greene County District Boy Scout Committee by Schuster McClellan.

MAY HAVE POSTAL INCREASE

Reports given out by Postmaster General Walter Brown indicate the department will sooner or later ask for an increase in postal rates on first class mail to meet a constantly growing deficit in the operation of the department.

It has been suggested that the increase be two and one half cents instead of two cents at present. What the reaction will be no one can tell at this time. A few years ago the rate for third class mail was increased and the tonnage dropped so low the government lost more than under the lower rate. The increase was more than the traffic could bear.

The amount of free mail from government departments evidently could be reduced many thousands tons each year. Again there is no reason why a congressman should have franked mail much of which is purely of a political nature. If the government pays railroads in proportion to what shippers pay these rates should be reduced. Railroads are cutting service to the public without consideration of public needs to reduce operating costs. Such a policy could bring lower rates to the government for hauling mail and to shippers in general. Reduction in government operation as well as state will have a greater appeal to the public at this time. Increased taxes and mail charges will be resented by the public.

GAMBLING IN FOOD PRODUCTS

Wheat has reached a new low price and we are told it is the lowest in twenty-four years. Farmers have not much reason to worry about that for the simple reason ninety-five per cent of wheat raised by farmers was sold at threshing time.

This means that wheat at the new low price will not excite many farmers, unless it is the few that have some in storage. The speculators that deal in wheat and paid much higher prices are now letting out long and loud cries about low wheat and the blame is being placed on the Russian government.

If the Russian government had anything to do with dealing in wheat on the Chicago market by "selling short" some American brokers or brokers actually made the transaction possible. Demands have been made by Secretary Hyde of the Chicago Board of Trade for an investigation, meantime wheat continues to drop.

Lower wheat in the big market should mean lower feed prices such as is found in the patent brands and bran. But will farmers get this benefit at a time when they need it most? How much will flour drop and how much can the baker lower the price of bread? Cattle have been low in price but the consumer finds little difference in the price of meat for his table.

Gambling in food products may be prohibited someday but of recent years any form of gambling in the stock market has been regarded lawful business. Men have been ruined, banks have been closed as the result of this form of gambling but the public seems to be more interested in petty gambling like what might be found at a dog race track. It seems to be a greater sin than gambling in food products.

HORSE IS STOLEN—NOW BURNING THE BARN

Reports we read of the activity of state officials handling what is left of the Washington C. H. bank wreckage would make the public believe Ohio's bank inspection department was the most outstanding in the country. It is in the mind of the public but for inefficiency, stupidity and corrupt political pull.

With the banking department and the attorney general taking some new form of activity almost daily the public is expected to be made to believe that everything was all right and is now all right. Nevertheless the public knows the banks are closed and depositors see little or no hope of getting their money back.

Had these two departments been as diligent a year ago as today 6,500 depositors of the two banks in Fayette county might not now be suffering the mental torture and anguish that has been inflicted upon them. It has been reported in banking circles that the Ohio Banking Department would not have permitted the merger of the two banks had it not been for the Daugherty pull.

Depositors are satisfied and there is no power to dispel the idea that nothing but politics was responsible for the remaining assets of several closed banks being turned over to the Daugherty bank as depository. If the bank department admits it did not know of the condition of the Daugherty bank, it is proof the Ohio Bank Department is inefficient. If it admits it did know the Daugherty bank was insolvent proof is established that nothing but politics of the basest order was permitted to influence the head of the department to name the insolvent bank as a depository.

Suits by the score will be the result of the activity of the department and the attorney general. Innocent citizens will be subject to humiliation and heavy costs to defend themselves at a time when not only their financial resources are the lowest but a time when their funds are probably all tied up in the wrecked institution. The order of the day with the state officials in charge of the bank affairs is nothing more than grandstand play to ease the conscience of those who have lost and to fool a large per cent of Ohio citizens that have never experienced having their money tied up in a wrecked financial institution.

A little diligence and honest dealing months ago would have saved hundreds of depositors their money. It might also have given the Ohio Bank Department a better standing in the minds of the public. It would also have saved many other banks embarrassment that naturally follows exposure such as Washington C. H. is going through.

Every citizen in reviewing the Fayette county situation should apply himself or herself as one of the victims. It then would be easy to realize what 6,500 depositors of the two banks are now experiencing.

Had the Ohio Bank Department a head that could act without political consequence the horse would never have been stolen. As it is the department is attempting to distract attention by burning the barn to get the nasty mess out of the minds of the people most concerned. It is no wonder Fayette county citizens are hard to convince that their savings were safe guarded or what little left will ever be returned. Every new move by state officials now is only cause for more suspicion.

He'll Try a Lindbergh
Will Mussolini Fall?
Angels That Watch Us
Oakland's Fine Idea

Roy Ammel, a red-haired young man from North Dakota, who did some air fighting in the war, and enjoyed it, has invested his $40,000, including his last dollar, in a fast Lockheed Explorer plane, and plans to fly by himself to Paris.

He calls the trip that he plans "Doing a Lindbergh," and hopes to cover the distance, 3,610 miles, in about twenty-five hours, beating Lindbergh by nearly eight hours.

If he does that, Lindbergh will be well pleased. The engine decides the speed, and Lindbergh, like everybody else, knows that the trip will be made eventually in ten hours and less.

George Selde, able newspaper man, returns from Europe, predicting "Mussolini's fall from power with his Fascist government tumbling about his ears within a year."

Revolution will do the job, says Mr. Selde, and Mussolini's enemies at home are preparing it. He thinks Mussolini might plunge Italy into war to stave off revolution.

Other rulers have done that, and successfully.

France evidently is convinced that her first trouble will come from Italy, and seeks alternately to placate and terrify the implacable and forever untried Mussolini.

Concerning that powerful leader, the marvel is that he has endured so long the terrific strain of gigantic responsibility.

And a greater marvel is that, with absolute power and so many attacks on his life, he has ruled so moderately.

Angels that watch us, an perhaps talk about us, must have been amused when they saw Henry Ford sleeping at Nancy, in a bed once occupied by the sultan of Morocco.

The bed could not well have held two individuals farther apart than the sultan of Morocco and the sultan of Detroit.

But to the angels we may seem as much alike as ants seem to us.

Oakland, one of the most progressive cities in progressive California, establishes, thanks to the University of California, the country's first "adult education center."

The adult, rather than the child, craves information, eagerly seeking to repair lack of neglect of opportunity in childhood.

No man should feel that he is "too old to learn." Desire to learn proves of itself that you still can learn.

On the opening day of the university for adults, students admitted included a banker, a day laborer, school teachers, two doctors, a dentist, a photographer, clerks, bookkeepers, insurance agents, a successful merchant and two truck drivers.

Well might the ancient Chinese say: "He that knows not, and knows that he knows not, is wise. Encourage him."

Crime becomes ever more efficiently organized.

A gang of automobile thieves, alleged by the government to be managed by a distinguished criminal, formerly of Chicago, takes orders through regular salesmen for any car you want.

They explain that some cars were ordered for shipment to Russia and the shipment refused.

You give your order for a fine car at half price. It costs $50, as a bribe, to arrange for license plate changes.

Chicago's police, in the fight against racketeers, raided 10 labor union offices. Papers seized show the determination of racketeer gangs to "muscle" into reputable labor groups and control them.

Fortunately, union labor as a whole is free thus far from any racketeering taint.

But union racketeering does exist on a gigantic and dangerous scale. The welfare of the unions demands that it be stamped out.

In a secret test Captain Orlebar, squadron leader in the British air force, beat his own new world's record for speed, made when he won the Schneider cup, 355 miles and a fraction per hour.

He has recently several times exceeded 400 miles per hour, a speed that would bring him across the Atlantic in less than a day, across the Pacific by the daylight of one day.

We are not far from real flying.

Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., able, earnest young man, head of the committee appointed to investigate the "Reds," says investigation should cover the United States. He is right.

The United States should know about all important activities, including those of "Reds," and, if possible, some others, including national grafters, racketeers, bootleg organizations and wholesale criminals.

The "Red" menace, which worries one of our "best minds," seems to be spreading.

Lesson for July 8.

When called to go out from his own country and kindred, Abraham believed God and obeyed his command. True faith is proved by unquestioned obedience.

Lesson for July 15.

Jacob, a crafty schemer, through discipline at God's hands, became honest, a prince with God. Before he could enter the Promised Land a change must take place. Self-will must be broken before there can be confidence in God.

Lesson for July 22.

Moses, educated first at his mother's knee and then at Pharaoh's court, was forced to flee from Egypt because of a premature effort to deliver the enslaved people. Forty years of training in the wilderness was necessary before he was ready to hear God's call.

Lesson for July 27.

In the time of national emergency, there being no man to judge Israel, Deborah was called to take this place. God bestows his grace upon whomsoever he will, regardless of sex.

Lesson for August 3.

Ruth chose to cast her lot with God's people. This choice brought her not only salvation but earthly blessings. Ruth's relationship to Naomi shows the vital fellowship conferred in the God of Israel. National prejudices, hatred, and strife disappear on the part of those who are united in Jesus Christ.

Lesson for August 10.

Hannah asked God to give her a son, promising to dedicate him to God's service. God heard her prayer and she named her son Samuel, which means "asked of God." Samuel in his tender years was given to God, and he rendered a distinguished service for many years.

Lesson for August 17.

Saul was a man of fine gifts and had a great opportunity, but made a fatal failure because his heart was not right toward God. He had more concern for his own honor and welfare than for the glory of God. God is more concerned with having his commands obeyed than he is with the offering of sacrifices.

Lesson for August 24.

Friendship between David and Jonathan has been immortalized. This friendship was unique in that it took place between two men of rival interests. Jonathan was the natural heir to the throne, but David was God's choice. Jonathan knew this and magnanimously waived his rights.

Lesson for August 31.

Amos, a humble hardman, was called from his life as God's prophet to stand before the king. He was not a prophet by succession nor was he trained in the schools. God selects his servants from even the humblest walks of life.

Lesson for September 7.
Jehoiachin, the young king, was loyal to God. Two wicked kings had preceded him, during whose reigns God's law was lost. God put it into his heart to inaugurate a reformation, and in the process of restoring the temple, the law was found. When it was read before him, the king rent his clothes, and proceeded to institute his reforms on the basis of God's word.

Lesson for September 14.

Jeremiah, having heard God's call in his early years, zealously carried on his ministry. He called upon individuals to face their responsibility before God, assuring them that they would not be judged on the basis of racial heritage. Every man shall give an account of himself to God.

Lesson for September 21.

Jonah, a Jew, was called to preach repentance to a Gentile city. He sought to escape his responsibility by fleeing to Tarshish. God prepared a fish to swallow him. This was the means of his chastisement and return to his own land. After chastisement he was reconciled. At his preaching the city repented, putting on their sackcloth and ashes. God is not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance.

Blue Smackover

Near the Ouachita River in Southern Arkansas there is a little town called Smackover—a name now world famous because of the Crude Oil this field produces. These Crudes contain a high natural content of the so called aromatics naphthenes and unsaturates petroleum compounds which produces the desired anti-knock quality. This unusual gasoline COMBINES IN ONE MOTOR FUEL every desirable quality required by high compression motors and in addition contains the same quick starting and smooth operating characteristics that ave popularized High Test Gasoline. The great power found in Smackover accounts not only for its remarkable anti-knock performance but likewise is responsible for considerably higher mileage yields per gallon.

FIRE AGAIN BREAKS OUT IN BALED STRAW

Fire of spontaneous combustion in one of the sheds where baled straw is stored at the plant of The Hagar Straw Board & Paper Company broke out about six o'clock Wednesday evening.

The local fire department as well as the fire system at the paper plant was in full operation and it was only a few minutes until four streams of water poured into what for a time appeared as a seething furnace.

Coming at a time when all yard employees had left it was not long until employees and citizens gave aid in removing hundreds of bales of straw so that water could be poured into the center of the fire. The fire was discovered by the night watchman who had passed the shed a few minutes previous but saw nothing at that time. While aiding in removing bales of straw Paul Townsley was overcome with smoke and heat and had to be carried out.

It was the first test of the municipal water system. There was plenty of water and the pressure such that several men were required to hold the hose nozzle.

The shed contained about 150 tons of straw and the loss is estimated at 25 tons with little damage to the shed. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

Fire of similar character on November 21 last year destroyed several hundred tons of straw and the shed.

Ohio High Schools
To Participate In Sequoi-Centennial

The Sequoi-Centennial of the battle of Piqua, the crowning achievement of General George Rogers Clark's notable career, will be celebrated at Springfield on October 10. State Director of Education J. L. Clifton this week issued an invitation to the 1400 Ohio high schools to participate in the celebration of this famous historical event.

In his letter to high school principals throughout the state he writes as follows: "In this celebration it is my pleasure to announce that the schools of the state have been given a prominent and very appropriate part. On Friday, October 10, at high noon, will be staged in Springfield what we hope will be the largest educational parade ever assembled in Ohio. Each high school and junior high school and junior high school history class in the state shall enter at once upon a thorough study of the life and accomplishments of George Rogers Clark, especially emphasizing his campaigns in Ohio. During the first week of October an examination on the subject will be furnished by the State Department of Education to each class engaged in the study. The four students making the highest grades in this examination will, together with the teacher of the class, constitute the history committee from that school to attend the celebration at Springfield on October 10. All automobiles will be uniformly decorated for the occasion and will carry streamers identifying the schools in line. Complete directions have been communicated to every city, county and exempted village superintendent of the state. Those teachers interested should take the matter up at once with their superintendents and start arrangements to have their schools represented."

Director Clifton further states: "It is altogether fitting, therefore, that Ohio, the gateway to the empire added to the United States through the genius, the foresight, and the valor of George Rogers Clark should enter heartily into the celebration of the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of his achievements which had such a happy culmination at Piqua. Let us honor him whose patriotic and unselfish devotion secured for us the rich heritage which we possess and made possible the addition to Old Glory the seventeenth star as the individual emblem of our liberties."

If these plans materialize, there will be at least one thousand automobiles and a special crowd of five thousand students and teachers in the line of parade honoring the memory of General George Rogers Clark whose notable success in the year 1780 saved not only Ohio but the United States for future generations.

Lost Shoe But Found A Chicken

R. H. Elam, colored, giving Troy, Ohio, as his home was taken up yesterday by Marshal McLean near Springfield.

Elam had been found Wednesday night near the Old Mill Camp and when questioned stated he was on his way to the home of Zac Carr, Clifton. Marshal McLean started him that way. He evidently returned to town and out to the W. K. Watt farm where he entered the hay mow and went to sleep. In leaving he could not find one shoe which had his name in it. At the Carr home he was given a slipper and was wearing it when placed under arrest. He had a young chicken which had had its head pulled off as well as part of the feathers. The chicken head was found in the hay in the barn. Charges will be filed before Mayor Richards.
